PREFACE.

THIS Anthem was compoſed ſeventeen years ago. Part of it was ſung in the Eaſt pariſh of Bradford, (Maſſ.) at the annual public Thankſgiving in 1791. At the end of that year, or early in the following year, the whole ſtood, nearly, as it now ſtands.

The author hopes for candour.

The words have been ſelected from the Holy Scriptures. In the margin references have been made to the particular places, from which the words have been taken. So much, whether one or more ſentences, or a part of a ſentence, as has been taken at a time from any place, agrees with our Tranſlation, word for word.

The promiſes, "The mountains ſhall depart," &c. and, "Ye ſhall go out with joy," &c. are promiſes made to Zion, and to the people of God, in which it becomes all thoſe, of whatever nation, who "love our Lord Jeſus Chriſt in ſincerity," humbly and thankfully to rejoice Happy it would be for the inhabitants of this land to be ſuitably impreſſed with the ſacred maxim, "Righteouſneſs exalteth a nation; but ſin is a reproach to any people."

This Anthem being lengthy, it is proper to remark, that a number of ſtrains and parts of ſtrains may be omitted in various ways, the connexion remaining good, both as to the ſenſe, and as to the ſound. The words, Make a loud noiſe, and rejoice with thankſgiving, cloſe what may be called the former part of the anthem; and what follows may be called the latter part. The former part may be ſung without the latter, or with ſome ſtrains and parts of ſtrains ſelected from the latter in different ways; and the latter, or ſome ſtrains and parts of ſtrains ſelected from the latter in different ways, may be ſung without the former, or with ſelections from the former.
